1. Team Composition:

Our team embodies the core values of Perma Vision. We prioritize training and safety, aiming to help our staff continually progress professionally. We strive for excellence and collaborate with experienced education experts and adventurers to ensure our students have the best outdoor experience. In the spirit of Perma Vision's educational ethos, our team consists primarily of both Thai and foreign experts, fostering cross-cultural exchange among our participants.

2. Risk Advisory:

Before the team arrives at the campsite, we provide real-time information to all students, teachers, and parents. We extensively discuss any potential risks so that everyone understands potential dangers and how to act in emergency situations. An emergency contact list is provided to all participants for quick communication in emergencies, along with pre-camp safety briefings to ensure everyone is aware of established safety measures.

3. Environmental Assessment:

Our team conducts a thorough inspection of our activity locations in advance to ensure everyone is familiar with the layout and identify any areas of special concern. We continually assess the safety of the environment and adjust our protocols accordingly to ensure the safety of all participants. As our activities take place in the United States, we pay special attention to weather conditions and issue safety warnings for activities that may be particularly hazardous in certain situations. If weather conditions are unfavorable, we immediately contact our service providers to seek alternative solutions.

4. Professional Team:

Our staff is well-trained in conflict resolution and conflict mitigation, capable of handling any potential conflicts that may arise during the camp. Our staff also undergoes team management training to ensure the personal safety and well-being of everyone. Additionally, all our team members receive basic first aid training, including treating cuts, abrasions, and scratches. Furthermore, all our group activities are supervised by staff from Perma Vision to ensure compliance with relevant health and safety regulations.
